HOUSE VOTES TO ADJOURN FRIDAY.

Governor Insists on Passage of Tax Legislation.

Bills for Work at Newport Armory and on Court House Doors.

[Special despatch to The News.]

PROVIDENCE, May 3.—Governor Pothier issued a statement today, the purport of which was, first, in the way of advice, that the legislature adjourn to some date in the summer for a session to enact tax legislation; second, a threat to the effect that if it does not do this he will call a special session during the summer for the purpose of taking action on the tax question in accordance with the Republican campaign plank of last fall.

The house voted to adjourn Friday sine die, under a suspension of the rules. The Democrats objected, but were not supported by the "insurgent" element and the necessary two thirds vote was obtained. On Friday, the final day, it is expected that many of the bills which have been accumulating in the files of the different committees will be reported and rushed through, according to custom, and it will probably be late in the evening before adjournment is taken.

Bills providing for repairs to the Newport armory and the altering of the doors of the Newport court house, to comply with the law of the city, were introduced.

Based upon the recent decision of the Supreme Court of the United States, which says that it is illegal to use a person's photograph for advertising purposes without that person's permission, a bill was introduced to make the use of either name or picture under such conditions a misdemeanor, and thus provide a ground for procedure in the state courts.

In both branches there was evidence that the committees were clearing their files as well as the two bodies clearing their calendars, preparatory to the final adjournment.

In the senate Senator Collins of Richmond introduced a resolution authorizing the adjutant general to loan the military division, Sons of Veterans, rifles for use on Memorial day. Passed.

Senator Galvin of East Greenwich gave notice that Thursday or Friday he would move the suspension of the rules requiring new business to be referred to committees, thus permitting the railroading through of such bills as may come in at the last moment.

Senator Sayles of Burrillville introduced an act which would make it a misdemeanor to use either name or picture of a person in advertising matter without authority of that person. Referred to the judiciary committee.

A number of petitions for the passage of the tuberculosis hospital act were received.

Senator Sanborn of Newport introduced an act providing that building inspectors of cities and towns may order put on buildings fire escapes which they deem adequate. Referred to the judiciary committee. The present law does not allow the inspectors to dictate what kind of escapes shall be erected.

Senator Sanborn also introduced a resolution providing an appropriation of $200 to meet the expense necessary to change the doros of the Newport court house, to conform to the local building law. Referred to the finance committee.

Senator Sanborn, for the committee on judiciary, reported an act entitled ferrets and weasels. Placed on the calendar.

Senator Bennett of Woonsocket, for the same committee, reported an act repealing the caucus law of Foster. Placed on the calendar.

Senator Gorton of Pawtucket, for the same committee, reported an amendment to the Harrisville fire district charter. Calendar.

Senator Munroe of Providence, for the same committee, reported an act providing for the prosecution of husbands or wives who desert their children. Calendar.

The committee on corporations reported a number of private corporation acts.

Senator McKenna of Cumberland, for the committee on special legislation, reported an act providing that the police of cities and towns may provide curfew laws for certain streets. This leaves it optional with the authorities whether they shall enforce the curfew law. Calendar.

The calendar being reached, Senator Sanborn was desirous of having action taken on the bill intended to prohibit insurance agents from making false estimates and representations, the penalty for which would be to debar the agent from this line of work for three years. Senator Champlin objected to passage, as he understood that the bill had not been printed. Senator Sanborn said Senator Champlin was captious in making such an objection. Senator Champlin said, whatever might be the opinion of Senator Sanborn, he believed in adhering to the rules. The bill was ordered printed.

From the calendar were taken and passed acts giving each of the towns in Washington county a medical examiner, restricting the granting of hunters' licenses to those over 15 years of age, providing for certain plats or maps, providing for certain in East Providence; appropriations of $5,000 for the proper representation of the state on public occasions of $2,500 for the United States Volunteer Life Saving Corps, $3,000 for the care of Rhode Island's warship, the Alleen; $5,000 for the tuberculosis branch of the St. Joseph's Hospital, and a resolution paving the way for the state to take over the bridges in Bristol county.

In the house Mr. Sullivan of Newport introduced a resolution appropriating $1,000 for repairs to the state armory at Newport. Referred to the finance committee.

Mr. Franklin of Newport introduced a bill granting to the city of Newport certain lands adjoining the Newport County jail for use as a police station site. Referred to the judiciary committee.

Mr. Cooney of Providence introduced a resolution approving the income tax amendment to the federal constitution. Referred to the committee on special legislation.

Mr. Baldwin of Providence presented

PEACE PLANS NOW ALMOST ASSURED.

Extension of Expiring Armistice the First Move.

Basis for Amity to be Submitted to Carabajal Written by Gomez.

EL PASO, Texas, May 3.—With Judge Francisco Carabajal, the government peace envoy, already on the ground, and Governor Miguel Ahumada of Chihuahua, who is to act in an advisory capacity, expected to reach here before night, actual peace negotiations bid fair to be in progress soon. The first move will be the extension of the armistice, which expires at noon today. Despatches from Mexico City last night announced an extension of five days, but no official word has reached General Madero, who yesterday offered a three days' extension, including in the truce territory the town of Ojinaga, which has been besieged by the insurrectos and the relief of which, by flying federal re-inforcements, was reported last night.

Insurrecto leaders declare that the federals have violated the term of the armistice by bringing re-inforcements into Juarez disguised as laborers. These men are said to have entered the United States by way of Laredo, and then crossed from El Paso into the Mexican city. General Madero called the attention of General Navarro to the matter in the following letter today:

"I am informed that during the armistice, federal soldiers disguised as workmen have entered Juarez from the American side. At first I did not care to notice these rumors but investigation shows the reports to have some basis and I would appreciate an explanation."

General Navarro denied the reports.

Judge Carabajal arrived last night and immediately went into conference with Oscar Braniff, Esquibal Obregron and Rafael Hernandez, who have been acting in the negotiations. At the end of the conference Senor Braniff announced that Judge Carabajal had brought "full and necessary powers" for treating with the rebel commissioners, and that no hitch would occur on that score. Judge Carabajal will act alone, while Dr. Vasquez Gomez will represent the provisional government, advised by Don Francisco Madero, Sr., and Pino Suarez, provisional governor of Yucatan.

The rebel leaders have completed their party platform, which contains the composite ideas of all the governors and other officials of the provisional government. This platform was typewritten in the Madero camp and all the rebel leaders signed it. They call it "an act" and admit it is analogous to a declaration of independence. It contains the propositions for peace in a general way. The actual basis for peace which the rebel commissioners will submit to Judge Carabajal is being written by Dr. Vasquez Gomez and will be discussed in another conference.

Much secrecy is maintained about the contents of both documents, but there is good ground for belief that the questions of the resignations of President Diaz and Vice President Corral are taken up in it. Insurrecto leaders did not deny that if Judge Carabajal offered official assurance of President Diaz's retirement, a peace agreement could be arranged within 48 hours.

SANCHEZ MEETS DEFEAT.

Insurgent Commander Overcome by Escudero at the Village of Chapa.

PRESIDIO, Texas, May 3.—General Jose de La Cruz Sanchez, commanding the insurgent forces, was defeated Monday by Colonel Manuel Gordillo Escudero, at the village of Chapa, and the siege of Ojinaga is reduced. For seven weeks the insurrectos surrounded the town. Three insurgents are reported killed and five wounded. The federal loss is not known. Colonel Gordillo commanded about 1,000 soldiers, with two cannon and a machine gun. General Sanchez had 300 men and Colonel Toribo Ortega 150. The battle lasted nearly 12 hours. Sanchez made a tactical error in dividing his force. To save his scattered command, he gave the order to retire to Mualato. The federal garrison at Ojinaga did not know the insurrectos had withdrawn until nearly noon yesterday.

ENTITLED TO TWO REPRESENTATIVES

State Camp of Modern Woodmen Has Large Gain.

Officers Elected at the Triennial Convention in Pawtucket.

[Special despatch to The News.]

PAWTUCKET, May 3.—The triennial session of the State Camp of Rhode Island, Modern Woodmen of America, was held today, with representatives of the subordinate camps throughout the state in attendance. The morning session was called to order at 10 o'clock by State Consul Frederick W. Reisman, who introduced Mayor Giles W. Easterbrook, and the latter gave the members of the State Camp a hearty welcome, extending to them the freedom of the city.

The first business was the appointment of the committee on credentials, C. J. Coutanche of Providence, Frank G. Kimball of Newport, W. E. Martin of Westerly and D. J. Bailey of Peacoag being selected. This committee examined the credentials of the delegates and after it made its report its business of the session was continued.

The state consul made an interesting report of the work of the order in the state during the past three years, showing a large increase in membership. The state clerk, Fred Barr, also reported interesting statistics of the order. The increase of membership, is sufficient to give the state jurisdiction the right for the first time to send two representatives to the next national convention at Buffalo in June. Since the last triennial meeting 787 new members have been added to the rolls, making the total state membership, 2,623.

After the reading of these reports the State Camp proceeded to the election of officers, with the following result:

State Consul—Thomas O'Brien of Barrington.

State Clerk—H. W. Knapp of Edgewood.

State Adviser—J. Leroy Fisher, M. D., of Providence.

State Banker—A. L. Campbell of Providence.

State Escort—Thoman H. Croston of East Providence.

State Watchman—Pierre Ledoux of Woonsocket.

State Sentry—M. J. Lynch of Olneyville.

At noon a banquet was served to the national and state officers and the delegates, under the direction of Northcott and C. W. Hawes Camps of Pawtucket.

At the afternoon session the new officers were installed by District Deputy Head Consul George F. Baldwin, after which delegates to the Head Camp meeting at Buffalo in June are to be elected.

This evening the beneficial degree will be exemplified on a class of candidates by a team made up of officers of Northcott, Norden, Enterprise and C. W. Hawes Camps.

RAILWAY TRAFFIC RESUMED.

Situation at Canton Quieter After the Rebellious Outbreak.

LONDON, May 3.—A cablegram received today by the Hong Kong and Shanghai Banking Corporation describes the situation at Canton, China, as quieting down, following the rebellious outbreak. Railway traffic between Canton and Hong Kong has been resumed.

Vice Admiral Sir Alfred L. Winsloe, commander-in-chief of the British Eastern fleet, cabling from Hong Kong today, informs the Admiralty that the situation at Canton is not serious now, the revolutionary outbreak of last Thursday might having been crushed before the news of the movement was received by him.

Two British river gunboats have been at Canton since Friday. A destroyer and two gunboats at Hong Kong are in readiness to proceed to Canton, but the British consul general considers that further protection for foreigners there is not required.

COMMONS ADVANCES VETO BILL.

Whole Measure Except Preamble Now Out of Committee Stage.

LONDON, May 2.—Against the protest of Mr. Balfour, leader of the opposition, that he real purpose of the bill was not the improvement of the constitution but the carrying of home rule, the House of Commons tonight, after the application of closure, adopted clause two of the Parliament bill, which is the most important clause of the government's measure for the curtailment of the powers of the House of Lords, by a vote of 299 to 195.

During the course of the debate on clause two the government agreed to accept one or two minor amendments moved by the opposition, but rejected all which would weaken the scope of the clause. This clause relates to any bill other than a money bill, and provides that if any such bill is passed by the House of Commons in three successive sessions, and is rejected by the House of Lords at each of those sessions, it shall become an act of Parliament on the royal assent.

Mr. Balfour asserted that the government had succumbed to the threats and cajoleries of the Nationalists and Laborites.

Five other clauses of the measure were forced through the House, including clause three, which provides that any certificate of the Speaker of the House of Commons given under this act shall be conclusive for all purposes and shall not be questioned in any court of law." This was carried after closure, 295 to 142.

Prior to amendment yesterday, clause two provided that this should not take effect until at least two years has elapsed between the date of the first introduction of the bill, and the date on which it passed the House of Commons for the third time. In amended form it provides that the two years' delay shall be calculated from the date of the passing of the second reading of the bill in the House of Commons, which somewhat extends the period in which the Lords can delay a bill.

By the aid of closure, the remaining clauses, four, five and six, were adopted, without amendment, by large majorities.

There remained a number of proposed new clauses on the amendment paper, but the chairman immediately ruled most of these out of order.

Clause four provides that "Nothing in this act shall diminish or qualify the existing rights and privileges of the House of Commons."

Clause five provides for the duration of Parliament, reading: "Five years shall be substituted for seven years as the time fixed for the maximum duration of Parliament under the septennial act of 1715."

Clause six declares: "This act may be cited as the Parliament act, 1910."

The House adjourned after rejecting the proposed new clauses, thus disposing of the committee stage of the whole bill with the exception of the preamble.

DEMOCRATS CARRY BALTIMORE.

Plurality of their Candidate for Mayor Not More Than 500.

BALTIMORE May 2.—After one of the most closely contested elections on record here, James H. Preston, Democrat, has been chosen mayor of Baltimore for the next four years over former Mayor J. Clay Timmins, Republican. It will take three fourths of the city's vote to indicate who has won and even on those figures it is now estimated that Preston's majority will not exceed 500.

The Democrats have carried a majority of the members of the first and second branches of the council.

No doubt exists that all three of the proposed loans have been carried and the coming administration is assured of authority to expend $10,000,000 additional on sewers, $5,000,000 on paving and $2,500,000 on parking in the annex.

PORTSMOUTH.

Death of Mrs. Charles G. Thomas After a Sickness of More Than Two Years.

[Regular correspondence of the News]

Ann Elizabeth, wife of Charles G. Thomas, died at her home on the East Main road at 10 o'clock Tuesday evening, after a sickness dating from two years ago. At that time she sustained a fall shortly from which she rallied, but never was in as good health as before and at frequent intervals was confined to bed and suffered intensely. For some months the sufferer had been a cripple and death came at last as a release.

Mrs. Thomas was in her seventy-fourth year and was the second of the ten children of the late Lawton and Ritchie Fish, of whom six are still living: Lawton F. and William R. Fish, Mrs. Frances Southwick, Mrs. William Sampson (Emma), Mr. Charles L. Fish, all of Portsmouth, and Mrs. Avery Chaves of Boston, Hiram Tyler and Lizzie Fish, who died several years ago. Mr. Hall officiating. Interment was in the family lot in the Island cemetery. Many floral tributes were received from relatives and friends from different places.

Miss Mildred McKenzie of East Providence and Miss Mary Gilmore of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., are guests of Mrs. Frank H. Peckham at Prospect Terrace.

Mr. Alfred H. Sherman, who has been employed by Mr. Louis S. Slade, Jr., of Fall River, is recovering and hopes to be able to resume work in a few days. Mr. Sherman has been confined to the house for about two weeks with a severe attack of grippe.

Mrs. Mary Ann Peckham, who has been very ill at the home of her son, Mr. Frank H. Peckham, on the East Main road, is reported to be much better today.

A SPRING DINNER.

The Crown of Lamb Will Require the Ribs from a Whole Animal.

Many Varieties of Creams are Made From Fondant With Nuts and Dried Fruits Added.

[Cornelia C. Bedford.]

Whipped Cream Broth
Crown of Lamb New Potatoes
Peas Beets
Birds' Nest Salad
Cheese Wafers
Strawberry Mousse Angel Cake
Coffee

A can of clear clam broth can be used, if fresh hard shelled clams cannot be had; if obtainable scrub three dozen clams in a kettle with one cupful of boiling water, cover closely and cook until the shells steam open, and cook the liquor through doubled cheese cloth. The clam meat, with whatever liquor remains after one pint is taken, can be put aside to use in a supper dish. The pint is re-heated, and when dinner is ready, is mixed with an equal quantity of scalding hot milk, and two thirds of a cupful of stiffly whipped cream. A dash of pepper and a little salt is added and the broth served, preferably in cups.

The crown of lamb will require the ribs from a whole animal. The butcher should separate the ribs down close to the back bone, French the ribs at the upper end of each and skewer or tie the two pieces together so as to make the points pointing upward. To prevent a hollow circle, the rib bones on the outside, covering or burning the ends of these delicate bones, each should be wrapped with a piece of buttered paper and tied in a piece of buttered paper and tied in a piece of fat salt pork. The meat is roasted in a hot oven for an hour and a half, or it should always be served well done. The pieces which are helped in order may be new ones if obtainable; otherwise drain a can of peas, rinse on several waters and let stand in cold water for at least an hour. Drain thoroughly, add a seasoning of salt and pepper and heat quickly in a large tablespoonful of butter.

Unless larger than an egg, the new beets should be served whole with a little melted butter poured over them.

The birds' nest salad requires one or two rolls of cream cheese and some well-blanched lettuce. Separate the lettuce leaves, wash thoroughly, and let stand in cold water only long enough to make crisp. If this is done early in the day they may then be dried on a wet cloth and put aside in a cool place, in a teaspoonful of lemon juice or tarragon vinegar dissolve a quarter of a teaspoonful each of salt and white pepper, stir this gradually into two tablespoonfuls of olive oil, continuing to stir until the dressing is slightly thickened. Mash the cheese with a fork and gradually add the dressing into it. Mold into egg shapes and fleck them here and there with a grain or two of black pepper, or the cheese may be tinted a very pale green by the use of color paste. Dry the lettuce leaves and arrange them in tiny nests in each of which place four of the eggs. Make a second amount of dressing and pass it with the salad, serving small cheese wafers at the same time.

Hot thick preserved strawberries should be made adding sufficient syrup to make a total measure of one cupful. Taste and, if lacking in sweetness, add sufficient powdered sugar to make it so. Heat over hot water. Soak one quarter of a package of granulated gelatine in one quarter of a cupful of cold water, stand over hot water until dissolved, then strain into the prepared fruit, and add one teaspoonful of lemon juice. Have ready one cupful and a half of thick cream whipped to a stiff froth. As the fruit begins to thicken, fold carefully into the mixture and turn into a wetted mold.

Many varieties of creams are made from fondant, dropping on it a little flavoring and coloring and kneading as at first until pliable, then molding or stamping into different shapes. The strongest oils or extracts should be used that the fondant may not become too soft. When creamy centres with chocolate or cream coating are wanted make the centres and let them stand on paraffine paper over night. Take a piece of fondant the size of an egg, place it in a cup and stand in a pan of hot water. Add flavoring or coloring and mash and stir until like a thick batter. Having waxed paper in readiness, drop in one of the cream centres, turn over with a fork, work quickly and drop on the paper. The fondant must be stirred very often or it will change to sugar. Shelled nuts, stoned and cooked dates or candied fruits may be dipped in the same way. For decoration a bit of nut, fruit or a dragee may be pressed in the top of the soft candy as soon as dipped and dropped. Pieces or bits left after dipping by pressing in a long narrow mold, arranging the layers according to color; slice one or two of them work a few chopped nuts. When firm cut into bars or squares. Chocolate for coating is usually the bitter variety. Use as much as is likely to be needed and stand over hot water until melted, only a very moderate heat should be used to secure the best results. Another way is to add a cupful of fondant one tablespoonful or more of cocoa; as the cocoa has a tendency to thicken the fondant add also, a drop at a time, half of a teaspoonful of water to the proper consistency.

Those who are especially fond of sweets and dainties grate two or more squares of sweet chocolate in a bowl and set in a saucepan of boiling water over the back of the fire. Stir frequently and when melted transfer to a platter and all to the table. Stir in as much of chopped nuts, candied fruits or cocoanut, as desired, small spoonfuls on paraffine paper make simple candies may be made indefinitely.

Stuffed dates are always liked and especially the dry variety of dates are used. Make a long slit in each and remove the stone and surplus white dim. When re-filled with confectioners sugar. Flavored with vanilla or mixed with chopped nuts may be used for filling also any of the following mixtures: Almonds or hickory nuts blanched fine and worked to a paste with a few drops of sherry; cooked prunes pounded together; raisins pounded with raisins. Figs or large table raisins may be filled in the same way.

Those who like cocoanut mix together equal parts of a cupful each of grated cocoanut and sultana raisins. Roll a little of a small egg to a stiff froth, add it to the nuts and raisins with a few drops of vanilla and work in as much confectioners sugar as may be needed to mold them into balls.

WILL BE OPENED SOON.

New Highway Bridge Spanning Cape Cod Canal Between Buzzard's Bay and Bourne.

The work of erecting the mammoth highway bridge which will span Cape Cod canal between Buzzard's bay and the village of Bourne is nearly completed. The grading of the approaches on either side of the structure is finished and the electric wires that will supply the motor power for opening and closing the great draw are being strung. The bridge will be opened for the use of the public in a short time.

The opening of the new bridge, which will be the main artery of travel from points of Cape Cod to all the towns and villages along the bay shore between Buzzard's bay and Woods Hole will mark the closing of the present bridge over the Monument river, which was erected by the town of Bourne, about a dozen years ago at an expense of more than $50,000. Once the new bridge is ready for use the present bridge that spans the Monument river will be taken up, as it is expected by that time that the railroad trains to and from Woods Hole will be running over the roll lift railroad bridge.

The grading for the re-location of the tracks of the railroad company to a point near Bournedale is rapidly being finished and it is expected that before the summer arrangement of running trains on the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad goes into effect the new section of the road will be in use.

The hydraulic dredge at work in the Monument river on the end of the canal is now discharging the spoil on the north bank of the canal and a force of men are engaged in building levees to hold it back all along the line of the waterway. The dredge which has been at work for more than a year has already dug along the trunk of the canal for quite a distance, making a depth of water sufficient for the bigger dredges that will soon begin work here.

Mammoth bowlders, some of them estimated to weigh more than 100 tons, have been found along the line of the canal. On the Sandwich end of the canal the three scoop dredges are now making rapid progress, the hard digging which they encountered having been passed.

The hydraulic dredge General Mackenzie is at work in the trunk of the canal excavating to a depth of 35 feet on the Sandwich end near where the proposed docks will be built. The barges with stone for the seawall on the Sandwich end are due to arrive there and the work of finishing the breakwater will be rushed during the summer and fall.

Already the breakwater has been extended nearly a mile seaward from the Sandwich end of the canal and although it has been battered by charging seas during the winter it has not suffered the least damage. The spoil from the canal is rapidly filling in the marshes, which will be raised to a grade of eight feet or level with the railroad.

....Mrs. Frederick Schoff of Philadelphia was unanimously re-elected president of the National Congress of Mothers.

....King George's eldest son, known among the members of the royal family by the nickname of David, will be the first Prince of Wales to be able to address the people of his principality in their own language; and the prince who has completed his course of education at the Royal Naval College, at Dartmouth, from which he has been successfully graduated, is now not only being prepared for Oxford, but is likewise busily engaged in acquiring the Welsh tongue, in view of his solemn investiture as Prince of Wales by the king at Carnarvon in July next.

...."Mona," an opera in English by Horatio Parker, professor of music at Yale, and Bryan Hooker of Farmington, Conn., formerly of the Yale faculty, has been awarded the $10,000 prize in the Metropolitan Opera contest. The decision of the jury was unanimous, and pursuant to the terms of the contest the opera will be produced by the Metropolitan Opera Company next season. Hundreds of operas were submitted. Professor Parker wrote the music and Mr. Hooker the libretto. "Mona" tells a story of love and war in the days of Roman rule in Britain.

....Emperor William was recently granted a doctor of medicine by the faculty of Prague, and the diploma, in order to make it doubly valuable, was presented by Emperor Francis Joseph personally to a representative of the German emperor. The document is a work of art, and is enclosed in an envelope of rare beauty and great intrinsic value. The delicately tinted leather is richly decorated with gold, the jewels being lapis lazuli, turquoise and amethysts, said to be favorites with the imperial doctor. The diploma bears also a two-kronen stamp, like all diplomas issued by the faculty and without which no Austrian document has any legal value.

....A petition to have adjudged insane Stilson Hutchins founder of the St. Louis Times and formerly connected with the Des Moines State Journal, Dubuque Herald and St. Louis Dispatch, has been granted. Hutchins is a multi-millionaire, and was an organizer and chief promoter of the Mergenthaler Linotype Company. The petition was filed by Mrs. Rose Keeling Hutchins, his second wife, a Baltimore woman, whom he married in 1900. She recited in the petition that for many months past Mr. Hutchins has been paralyzed and is of "diseased and unsound mind." By reason of his mental and physical condition she says, Mr. Hutchins is wholly unfit and incapable of managing and properly caring for himself and his estate. It is said the estate is worth between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000. Mr. Hutchins formerly was a member of the legislatures of New Hampshire and of Missouri.

KEEP A-SMILIN'!

[John Nicholas Beffel, in National Magazine.]

Still a-smilin', my good brother?
That's the way through life t' go.
Keep a-laughin', don't y' worry,
An' dull care won't have a show.
Chuck your trunk for Sunshine Country
Where old Trouble never strays
An' you'll help th' world be merry
While y' live through happy days.

Keep on dreamin', it won't hurt y';
Let th' world know you don't care
Though the wild winds rage an' ruin
All your castles of the air.
Sing your song—if it's a sad one
Better sing it mighty low,
But if there is sunshine in it
Lift your voice and let us know.

Don't quit hopin', it will bring y'
All y' need an' plenty more.
He who works an' keeps a-smilin'
Finds life sweet unto the' core.
S'pose th' clouds do hide th' heavens?
Can't have blue skies all th' while;
Got t' use th' clouds for somethin';
Y' won't mind it if y' smile.

If y' feel bad, just remember
There's a heap worse off than you,
But they smile an' keep on hopin'
An' their days are never blue.
What's th' use, friend, o' complainin'?
It won't get y' nothin' good.
While you'll sure be well an' happy
If y' smile an' saw your wood.

20 YEARS' PSORIASIS CURED

"I have been afflicted for twenty years with a disease, called by M. D.'s psoriasis, and it extended until it covered my entire person in the form of dry scales. Every morning there would be nearly a dustpanful of scales taken from my bed. All thought I had but a short time to live. I earnestly prayed to die. Cracked through the skin all over my back, across my ribs, arms, hands, limbs; feet badly swollen; toe-nails came off; finger-nails dead and hard as a bone; hair dead, dry and lifeless as old straw. O my God! how I did suffer. My sister had a small part of a box of Cuticura in the house. She wouldn't give up; said, "We will try Cuticura." Some was applied on one hand and arm. Eureka! there was relief; stopped the terrible burning sensation from the word go. They immediately got Cuticura Resolvent, Ointment and Soap. Result: returned to my home in just six weeks and my skin as smooth as this sheet of paper. Hiram E. Carpenter, Henderson, N. Y."

The above remarkable testimonial was written January 19, 1880, and is republished because of the permanency of the cure. On April 22, 1910, Mr. Carpenter wrote from his present home, 610 Walnut St. So., Lansing, Mich.: "I have never suffered a return of the psoriasis and although many years have passed I have not forgotten the terrible suffering I endured before using the Cuticura Remedies."

THE COMING OF THE GRAND TRUNK.

The battle which has been fought between the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company and the Southern New England, or Grand Trunk road, seems to be over at last, so far as entrance and operation in this state are concerned, and the coming of the new line assured. The two having reached an agreement regarding plans and locations and an act having been prepared which is satisfactory to both, it only remains for the legislature to pass the new measure, and there is no fear that it will fail. While the roads were at swords' points over the matter opposition to the new company was manifested in the Assembly, but it was in the interests of the New Haven road and now that the opposition of the latter has been withdrawn no further objection of weight is expected from any members of the legislature and the prompt and practically unanimous passage of the measure is anticipated.

The coming of the new line is regarded with high optimism by most people who realize that competition between railroads of the proportions and importance of these two is practically certain to mean benefit to the public, though there are a few who are inclined to doubt if the Grand Trunk really means as much in this state. This doubt is based on a failure to understand just why that road should desire to come here and what it hopes to gain from a terminal in Rhode Island which it could not secure as well at some other point. The great majority of the people, however, are content to take the promises of the company at its face value and believe that the road really is to be built and that it will bring added prosperity to the state. The entire state is indeed interested in the matter and likely to share in the benefit expected to accrue, and not simply Providence, where the road is to locate its terminal, as the adjacent sections through which it will run to reach tidewater. Its coming must mean more commerce, more business, more prosperity in many ways, and of such a kind as to affect all parts of the state to some extent.

PROTECTING THE AMERICAN ON THE STAGE.

The wrath of several Irish audiences at the comic treatment of the stage the projects of Jews of all Jewish portrayals on the stage from Shylock to Sam'l of Posen, the sensitiveness of our Italian fellow-citizens to jokes about the Black Hand, and some indications of German resentment at Teutonic caricatures, have left the Yankee almost the only safe target for comedians.

We now have a gentle objection to the stage American as he is represented in English theatres—but the objection comes from one of our own countrymen and not from the representatives of any of the races who object to having their racial features drawn by comic artists. At a banquet in London of the Royal Theatrical Fund Mr. Griffiths, our consul general, urged that nothing would do more to stimulate Anglo-American friendship than the representation on the English stage of an American of culture, refinement and high purpose instead of the ranting caricature which is so long served in his name.

That sounds fair play, and if the stage Americans in London don't like it they might find Englishmen might be. We doubt if the English people would be any more than we have to Englishmen. The type of American deplored by Mr. Griffiths would be indistinguishable on the English stage from an English gentleman, and the conception an English dramatist would have of Hamlet, Othello or Lear would be as comical to the English admirers of Mr. Warren and some other of our literary snobs is due to the fact that Lowell and Longfellow, Irving and Hawthorne are the same sort of writers as their own, and they think American literature ought to be different, just as Chinese literature or the African folk lore is.

We all laugh at foreigners; that is why the words "barbarian" and "outlandish" have acquired their present meaning. At the theatre we must laugh at something and no people, just as no man, laughs very merrily at its own peculiarities. We must laugh at foreigners and it does them no real harm—even when the foreigners are ourselves. The stage American is not the only American known in England.

THE ARISTOCRACY OF LEARNING

Have you noticed a number of men—and women, too—whose expansive chests are decorated with flat, square watch keys, putting on offensive airs and treating humble persons not so adorned with contumely? There is said to be an aristocracy of learning, which is of course hostile to the principles of equality upon which our democratic institutions rest. This pernicious aristocracy, this select class of the highbrows, is the Phi Beta Kappa Society, to which the best scholars in the graduating classes of the various colleges are elected.

In a general way the country has known the Phi Beta Kappa for a long time, and has submitted patiently to the airs of erudition assumed by the aristocrats who compose it. The down-trodden lower classes of the intellectual world have meekly submitted to its assumptions of superiority, and to tell the truth, we believe the people who carry stem-winding watches and have no occasion for flat, square gold watch keys bearing Greek fetters have worried very little over their inferior position.

They are now called upon to assert their rights and rebel against the superior airs assumed by the members of the Phi Beta Kappa. Two collegians whose attainments led to their election into the society have declined to join it, on the ground that it is an aristocracy of learning and ought not to be encouraged. They are plain and simple men of learning who have no disposition to display their superiority to the common herd, and they protest against its continuance.

Of course they must have declined to accept all college honors. They ought not to accept degrees. M. A. and Ph. D. are quite as much the badges of an aristocracy of learning as any three Greek letters. The two democrats of erudition must not join any learned societies, for a society which is not open to all is clearly an exclusive and aristocratic organization, hostile to republican simplicity and democratic equality.

LOOKING TOWARD ECONOMY.

That is a good bill which was introduced in the legislature last week, for the appointment of a commission to secure economy in the conduct of the business of the state. It is proposed under the terms of the act that there shall be three commissioners, each of which shall receive $1,000 as salary, and if the commission should be of any value it would save vastly more than $3,000 in a single year. There is no question in the minds of those who know how much money is spent by the state departments and for what it is expended that there is much room for economy in the operation of the government, and it is also known by many that to considerable economy will be practised by the officials separately in the different departments. The only real way to economize is not to try to be the head of each department cut down expenses, but to have a commission or an individual do this work for all of them. By that method it is possible for a wide survey of the whole business of the state to be made, with the result that it would be evident where economy could be followed and money saved.

In some places the idea has been suggested, if not actually put into practice, of giving to one man the duty of managing the affairs of a municipality, so that all the departments can be correlated and the expenses lumped, and the plan is not unlike this of appointing a commission to regulate the expenses of the state, except that in this instance three men instead of one are provided. In each case the idea is for the financial matters of the city or the state to be cared for in such a way and by so small a body as to make it possible for the expenses to be cut down to the lowest possible point without injuring the work. This is a business-like proposition, and with such a commission as is proposed it ought to be possible materially to lessen the expenses of this state, which are generally acknowledged to be at present far beyond what they should be. It would be a good idea to try the experiment, for nothing could be lost and much might be gained by it.

Governor Foss of Massachusetts, who has had trouble enough since his inauguration, now has a new problem to solve. A large delegation of women has called upon him, urging the appointment of Mrs. Christina W. Page as police commissioner of Boston in place of Stephen O'Meara. They represented the Woman's Manicure and Chiropodist Association, and their objection to Commissioner O'Meara is based on the fact that he favors the bill before the legislature licensing manicurists and manicuring, and because he has in this particular "gone out of his way to insult 1,000 business women who are engaged in legitimate business in and about Boston, because of a few persons that have used the name of manicure as a cloak to pay their infamous practices." Governor Foss may find that in this he has something on his hands which all the manicurists of Boston cannot relieve.

The Democrats have decided not to pass a bill for free wool, it having been found that such a measure could not pass the ways and means committee of the House. It is expected that a compromise will be reported, which will favor a general reduction in the tariff on raw wool, with a decrease from the first year of 50 per cent, and a cent a pound each year for five years, at the end of which time the commodity would automatically go on the free list. There is also proposed a reduction in the tariff on wool products.

A three-cornered fight is in prospect in the United States Senate over the election of a president pro tem to succeed Senator Frye. Gallinger of New Hampshire is the candidate of the regular Republicans, Bacon of Georgia will be the choice of the Democrats, and the Progressive Republicans, who do not like Gallinger, are talking of putting forward Senator Clapp or some other Progressive, just to show that they hold the balance of power.

City Chamberlain Hyde of New York resigns in order not to embarrass Mayor Gaynor's administration. If he had felt that way, he should have resigned long ago. He has already succeeded in embarrassing the mayor.

Has winter come back again?

THE MAY MAGAZINES.

The May number of Popular Science Magazine contains 364 articles and 293 illustrations. L. W. Thavis explains how it was possible to assemble an army of 20,000 men on the Rio Grande in 10 days' time, and to the theoretical training of the War College gives the credit. The Pan-American Congress is discussed by H. H. Windsor. A nongyroscopic aeroplane motor, which has two units, revolving in opposite directions, and is the invention of Thomas Preston Brooke, former leader of the Chicago Marine Band, is described with illustrations and some startling statements regarding gyroscopic force are made. Aviation development has taken a new trend in the last few months, as a summary of recent events points out.

The New York city holocaust in which 144 lives were lost, the Albany Fratrie, Wis., explosion and other disasters and accidents are described. How Chicago stopped a river to sink a tunnel is told in picture and story. An article on "Cosmic Dust" by O. Gordon Ogden explains some solar phenomena about which many people have hazy ideas. A discussion of the standardization of railway equipment is accompanied by a number of interesting illustrations. The Shop Notes and Amateur Mechanics Department contain an unusual variety of subjects.

The May Success Magazine appears in a striking cover and a new dress of type. "A Pageant of Liberty" by Robert Haven Schauffler is a suggestion for an Independence Day celebration based on the Pittsburg plan. "The New Senate" by Robert Wickcliffe Woolley shows how thoroughly the old landmarks have been swept away in the upper house. In "The Boys Are After You" Forest Crissey writes of the boys' corn clubs and their 50,000 members. Edwin Emerson gives a picture of "Fighting in Mexico." "The Empty Linen Chest" by Mary Heaton Vorse shows how the American housewife pays an exorbitant tax to protect an industry which does not exist. O. S. Marden contributes an editorial, "Gray Hairs Seeking a Job."

Other features of the number are "The Diary of a Fatfish Girl," by Louise Closser Hale; "The Runner," by Leslie W. Quirk; "The Luck Serum," by Gouverneur Morris; "Janey Peers Behind the Veil," by Inez Haynes Gillmore; "A Page of Verse," by Richard Wightman, and "Reciprocity," an Unmusical Musical Comedy by Wallace Irwin.

SHOULD THINK AT LEAST TWICE.

[New York Tribune.]

It is to be hoped that sober-minded and justice-loving members of "organized labor" will think at least twice before they adopt the proposal of a universal strike during the trial of the Los Angeles dynamite suspects. To resort to such a strike would be not only to express lack of confidence in the justice of the court but also to imply that the result of the trial was to be determined not by the evidence and the legal procedure in the courtroom but by the exertion of outside and more or less violent influences. The trial will be an important one, and there is nothing more desirable than that it should be conducted with all possible decorum not only in the courtroom but in the attitude of the public toward it.

Governor May Call Special Session in Case Tax Legislation Fails.

Democrats to Boom Registration—Plans for Founders' Day and State Independence Day.

If the General Assembly adjourns sine die without enacting any tax legislation it is generally believed about the State House that the governor will call a special session of the legislature for some time early in the fall, for that particular purpose. In a statement the governor said the opposition to the tax bills is "led by lobbyists, for private or personal interests," and that he would go to any legitimate extremity to secure the passage of these bills this year. If the plan for a special session is carried through it is said that the Assembly will be called together a few weeks before the state election. This, it is said, is for the purpose of placing the members directly before the people at a time when the people are paying particular attention to their actions. Governor Pothier will not make a definite statement as to whether or not he will call this special session, but his position has been made known to the Republican leaders, and it is their belief that he will do so unless taxation bills are taken up before final adjournment. It has been reported that an attempt was to be made to have an adjournment session in August, but Tuesday afternoon in the house Mr. Hammett of Bristol introduced a resolution of adjournment sine die for Friday of this week, putting an apparent end to that rumor. Governor Pothier held private conference with certain members of the senate judiciary committee in the attempt to induce them to report the taxation bills now before that body, which are similar to those defeated in the house several days ago.

The Democratic state central committee Tuesday afternoon and the executive committee of the Democratic Providence city committee in the evening each discussed plans to boom registration, in order to put as many registry voters on the books as possible before the end of June, when the lists are closed. At both meetings the party machinery was set to the task of making comprehensive plans, in order to awaken the voters to the importance of registering as soon as possible, in order to avoid the rush, and also to warn them not to postpone their qualifying, because of the danger that they may not have their names on the books at all. The plan adopted at the city body's session was the appointment of five members, who will make the plans for the campaign. This meeting was attended by Democratic legislators from the city and Lewis A. Waterman, last fall Democratic candidate for governor, in addition to the executive committee's membership. At the meeting of the state central committee for nearly two hours the large number who gathered in response to the chairman's call discussed the situation throughout the state and needs for renewed activities in bringing out a full registration this year. The meeting was interesting and spirited, and the reports from the delegates were encouraging.

Friday, June 9, has been selected as Founders' day, in observance of the two hundred and seventy-fifth anniversary of the founding of Providence, by the general committee which is at work formulating the plans for the celebration. Superintendent of Schools Randall J. Condon will have general supervision over the patriotic programs, which will be presented in the various schools of the city in the morning. These will be appropriate to the occasion and will comprise much of interest from the historical standpoint. State Commissioner of Schools Walter E. Ranger will make some arrangements for a Founders' Day observance in the schools of the other cities and towns of the state, as the anniversary will in reality be a commemoration of the founding of Rhode Island through Roger Williams's advent to this region from the Massachusetts Bay colony. In the afternoon elaborate civic exercises will be held in the First Baptist Meeting House in Providence. The program there will include several addresses by prominent men, an oration and other original historical papers and poems. A plan to have submitted various articles of the latter sort to choose from is being considered. At the church a chorus of 150 school children will furnish music.

A patriotic celebration of the one hundred and thirty-fifth anniversary of the Declaration of Independence, enacted by the General Assembly of the Colony of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations, will be held at the old State House in Providence Thursday afternoon. Thomas W. Bicknell, president of the Rhode Island Citizens' Historical Association will preside. The program will consist of singing of the Old Hundredth Psalm by the audience; prayer by Rt. Rev. James DeWolf Perry, Jr., Bishop of Rhode Island; vocal solos by Miss Helen Louise Ames; address by Mr. Bicknell; singing of "America" by the audience; reading of the act declaring independence by Charles P. Sisson; vocal solo by Miss Ames, historical address by Rev. Gallus Glenn Atkins, D. D.; vocal solo by Miss Ames; address, "Daughters of Liberty of Providence," by Miss Mary A. Greene; singing, "God Save the State;" benediction.

John Henry Williams of North Adams, Mass., won the first prize in the annual Carpenter prize speaking contest at Brown University Tuesday evening. Daniel Harrison Kulp of Pottstown, Pa., guard on last year's football team, was awarded second prize while third place was given to Lawrence V. Crocker of Chester, Vt. This was the first time that a third prize has been awarded in many years, but the work was of exceptional merit and the committee felt justified in making the award, which is provided for in the stipulation of the donor. The men were judged on enunciation, pronunciation, vitality, gesture and general technique. The winner took for his subject Grattan's famous oration, "A Plea for Irish Independence," and delivered it with fire and vigor. Mr. Kulp was also vital in his rendition of Thomas's "The American Infamy." The results were announced by Professor Crosby, who said that in addition to the three prizes the committee had given honorable mention to Otto Carl Pahline of East Providence.

Rev. Charles A. Little, pastor of St. Michael's Church, Georgiaville, died St. Philip's Church, Greenville, died at the rectory at Georgiaville late Tuesday night, after a week's illness. He contracted a cold which developed into pneumonia and a complication of diseases. Father Little was born in Taunton, Mass., 42 years ago, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Little, both of whom died within the past few years. He was educated in the old St. Mary's school, Pawtucket, and in St. Laurent College, Montreal, Canada, and made his philosophical and theological course in France, spending two years at Issy and three years at Paris. He was ordained to the priesthood in the Grand Seminary, Paris, where he also said his first mass. Then he returned home and was assigned to the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Taunton, as assistant to Father Roach, and 13 years ago was appointed pastor of St. Michael's Church, Georgiaville. The Catholic mission chapel at Greenville, known as St. Philip's Church, is under the jurisdiction of St. Michael's parish, and as pastor of the latter Father Little also had charge of the former. He is survived by two brothers, Rev. Joseph A. Little, a curate of St. Joseph's Church, Pawtucket, and Walter S. Little, also of that city.

Rev. James C. Walsh, pastor of St. Michael's Roman Catholic Church in South Providence, is critically ill at his home, and his parishioners fear his illness may have a fatal outcome. His physician said Tuesday night that his patient's condition is grave, but there is still hope of recovery. Father Walsh suffered a severe attack of acute dilatation of the heart early in January, and for several days there was doubt of his recovery. He was confined to bed about five weeks at that time, and while he had been up and about since then, and worked in the parish, he has never completely recovered his strength. During his convalescence Father Walsh went to Atlantic City, N. J., in an endeavor to recuperate his strength, but the relief found there was only partial. After he came back he was still under medical care, and last Friday the attending physician found the priest's condition so weak that he advised that he conserve his strength and go to bed for several days. His illness at the present time is a complication of heart and kidney trouble and while there is no acute heart dilatation, as during January, that organ is still weak from the effects of the previous trouble.

Three Providence fire insurance companies are directly interested in the big conflagration at Bangor because of the business carried by them in that city. While it is impossible for these companies to accurately determine their loss, conservative estimates place the total amount involved in the neighborhood of $75,000. The Equitable Fire & Marine Insurance Company estimates its loss in the burned section at $20,000 and the Providence Washington Company at $40,000. The other company, the Providence Mutual Fire Insurance Company, has not yet arrived at an approximate amount, owing to the difficulty of determining exactly what buildings have been destroyed. However, it is believed that it will approximate from $15,000 to $25,000.

TRUST GRIPS THE SHOE INDUSTRY.

Middle West at the Mercy of a Boston Concern.

Statements Made Before Senate Finance Committee.

WASHINGTON, May 3.—The declaration that a "trust" grips the entire shoe manufacturing industry of the United States was made today before the Senate committee on finance, which began hearings on the Canadian reciprocity bill. Manufacturers from the Middle West told the committee they were practically at the mercy of the United Shoe Machinery Company of Boston. It was suggested that a report of the hearing would be transmitted to the Attorney General.

The principal spokesman for the shoe manufacturers was William D'Oench, of St. Louis. With him were manufacturers from St. Louis, Chicago, and Grand Rapids, Mich. An incidental reference to a failure to reduce the duty on brass wire used in the manufacture of shoes led Mr. D'Oench to refer to the shoe machine "trust." "The trust made it impossible," he said, "to buy brass wire abroad."

"Why don't you buy all your machinery abroad, then?" asked Senator Simmons of North Carolina.

In reply the shoe manufacturer referred to the 45 per cent duty which stood in the way.

Would the removal of that duty make shoes cheaper?" asked Senator Simmons.

"It would, but I cannot say how much."

In reply to Senator Smoot the witness said the royalty charged by the shoe machinery "trust" in les than a year would be sufficient to buy the English machinery outright. The Senator contended that under these circumstances the duty should not prevent the American manufacturers from buying European machinery.

Senator Bailey declared that if the report of the hearing were transmitted to the Attorney General it ought to "make trouble for the shoe machine trust." Senator Gallinger said he thought patents on machinery would protect the machinery manufacturing company from the charge of being a trust. Senator Bailey asserted they would not.

Mr. D'Oench said the United Shoe Machinery Company sold some of its machinery in England and that it did not bind the English manufacturers by any such contract as those in this country.

Milton S. Florsheim of Chicago told the committee that the American manufacturers had been obliged to sign a 17 years' contract and that no other shoe machine manufacturing company would enter the field because it could not find purchasers.

Representative Weeks of Massachusetts spoke against the free list and showed samples of different kinds of shoes, including brogans and sandals. There were English as well as American samples and Mr. Weeks undertook to show that English made shoes already are obtaining a standing in the United States, and the removal of duty would give a large part of the American market to the English shoe makers. "There is no combination in the shoe industry," declared Mr. Weeks, "nor in the leather or tanning industry. There is no trust or monopoly connected with these trades." Mr. Weeks asserted that the United Shoe machinery company, by its cheap leasing of machines, has prevented a general combination among manufacturers of shoes. Now the English, French and German manufacturers are adopting American machine, styles and methods, he said, and are preparing to flood the American shoe market. The removal of the tariff, would greatly aid the foreigners. "The machinery cost is the only item in shoe making that has not gone up in the last ten years," said Mr. Weeks.

COLD WEATHER FOR MAY.

Mercury Below 40, a Sting in the Wind and Winter Clothing Decidedly Comfortable.

The promised weather arrived a trifle ahead of time. Tuesday afternoon the mercury began descending fast and the northwest wind blew hard and had a sting to it. By 6 o'clock it was down to 48 in temperature, and it seemed that the wind must have been down to 14 and blowing about 40 miles an hour. The temperature at 9 was 41 and at midnight 40. This was as cold as it went, for at 4 this morning it was only 38. Everybody agreed that it was the coldest ever and the wind had a sting to it, but no ice could be seen outside of an ice cart. Nobody needed ice, any way; it was cold enough without that.

As the afternoon came on it looked as though the backbone of winter was again broken. The temperature had boomed up to 46 at noon and ranged from 48 to 50 at 2 p. m., and the wind was showing signs of giving up the endeavor to drive everything to the southeast and in the sun it absolutely felt warm. But it only felt that way. It was not a arm day. Horses, those of careful drivers, had blankets just as in winter; winter raiment prevailed, overcoats felt comfortable, and even gloves were not to be despised. This does not mean that some girls did not wear those stockings which have about the consistency of mosquito netting. There were others who had on anything warm they could, and they were the ones who felt comfortable.

NOTES ALONG SHORE.

Captain Wicks and the remainder of the crew of steam yacht Hecla arrived from New York this morning and today all but the wireless operator are on hand. They all agree that it is cold. Tuesday in New York they were perspiring; today in Newport they felt like freezing, but by hustling they managed to keep warm.

Fort Adams launch Captain Drum was launched from the shipyard this morning and resumed her place on the line. The junction launch had already gone over. Mr. Karl Bostel's launch Yodel was launched today and Mr. Root's launch Anona is ready to go over Thursday.

The Grey Duck, a gasoline cruiser owned by Mr. T. S. Sturtevant of Boston, put in here Tuesday night on account of the storm.

Surveying schooner Gazelle is in from Woods Hole and will proceed to Block Island before returning to the former place, where the survey work will be resumed. The Gazelle has been away since last August, on survey work in Nantucket sound and at Woods Hole.

First Distribution of Magazines in the Harbor—Indoor Base Ball Series Begun.

Notwithstanding the perturbed condition of the harbor Tuesday afternoon the Young Men's Christian Association magazine man, after giving up on the first attempt, was unable to resist the temptation to go out later in the day. About 3 o'clock, when it was fairly calm, he started with a boatload of material for distribution among the barge men, and says the thanks and expressions of gratitude he received more than repaid him for his labors. The manner of delivery was for those on board to lower a rope to the Association man—when he came alongside and hoist the bundle. Each package is labeled "From the Y. M. C. A., Newport, R. I." and contains four or five copies of various magazines.

A big two nights' swimming exhibition is being planned for the boys' department on the evenings of May 18 and 19. It has been decided to hold it two nights instead of one, owing to the limited accommodations for visitors in the basement. A large list of youngsters, many of whom have just learned to swim, have been entered to take part in the general exhibition. This will be followed by a water polo game between the stronger and more proficient swimmers among the boys.

Members of the boys' department will have their first aid test Thursday evening, the class being under the instruction of Mr. Warren. The Newport Boy Scouts who have not yet done so will avail themselves of the opportunity to pass their first test, the instruction having to do with alertness in saving life from drowning and fire with improvised appliances.

Arrangements have been made for two games with the St. George's third base ball team, the first Thursday afternoon and the second next Tuesday.

JAMESTOWN.

(Regular correspondence of the News)

A larg party of Odd Fellows attended the meeting of that order in Newport Tuesday evening when five candidates from the island were given the initiatory degree. Schade's launch Helena was chartered for the trip.

Another bungalow for Dr. E. C. Jollard has been raised on the property recently acquired by him on the Carr plat.

SIX-FOOTERS IN THE ELKS' MINSTRELS.

In the grand finale of the first part in the Elks' minstrels, in which the entire company of 100 people will take part, one of the marching features will be executed by 48 young men selected for their military appearance, who will show the famous high step adopted by the old Guard of the army of France before the Revolution. The men, most of whom are six-footers, will be correctly costumed for this march, and it should prove a pleasing feature of the entertainment.

Providence lodge of Elks will send a delegation numbering 150 to the performance, notice to that effect having been received today.

PROGRESS ON THE NEW SEWERS.

The city sewer construction gang has completed the new laterals in Fenner avenue and Almy's court, is now working in Ledyard street, and will extend a branch into Brooks avenue, after which the Bliss Road trunk will be built to connect these lines. Later the work of extending the trunk line which will cover the territory between Bliss road and the proposed settling tank and pumping station will be begun. With the Garfield Street sewer serving the outer westerly section of the Broadway district, and the new eastern slope district which is now being put in, great relief is being provided for the Broadway sewer, which has been so over-crowded for the past few years that when storms have come there has been flooding of cellars as a result.

WEBSTER'S FISHING ROD.

Used by the Great Orator in the Mashpee River and Added to Mr. Fearing's Collection.

Ex-Mayor Daniel B. Fearing has recently received an interesting addition to his collection of fishing implements, which he is making in connection with his unique library on fish and fishing. It is the jointed fishing rod used by the late Daniel Webster in the Mashpee river in Massachusetts. A short time ago Mr. Fearing received a letter from Mr. Parker, in which the latter stated that he thought his father and Mr. Fearing's grandfather had been classmates in Boston, and that he had in his possession a fishing rod which Daniel Webster had used. Having heard of Mr. Fearing's fishing collection and library, he thought it would make a valuable addition to the library.

Mr. Fearing replied and found that it was his grandfather's cousin and not his grandfather himself who had known Mr. Parker's father. He also learned that Daniel Webster had been in the habit of stopping at Mr. Parker's father's house and fishing with him, and that the last time they had fished together Mr. Webster had left the fishing pole at the Parkers' house and it had been in the possession of the family until the present time. Mr. Fearing was glad to have the rod, as he is to have anything connected with fishing, and especially because of Mr. Webster's former ownership.

The rod, which consists of six joints and is in excellent condition, has been mounted on a frame and will be placed on the wall of Mr. Fearing's hall, where he has already a large collection of fishing implements. The frame has a plate with this inscription: "Fishing rod owned and used by Daniel Webster when fishing with Theodore D. Parker in the Mashpee river, Massachusetts. Library of Daniel B. Fearing, Newport, R. I., 1911." The fishing rod has been on exhibition for several days in the window of the Titus Company, where it has attracted much attention.

I like a friendly game myself once in a while."

NO CHANCE FOR TARIFF BILL.

Democrats Certain That the Farmers' Free List is Lost.

Measures Thus Far Presented in the House Tend to Solidify the Republicans.

[Washington correspondence of the News.]

WASHINGTON, May 2.—There may be a question of the sincerity of the Democrats in the method they have adopted in regard to tariff legislation. It must be said in all candor that the Democrats do not believe that there is the slightest possibility of the Senate passing or the President signing the farmers' free list bill.

Twenty years ago the Democrats, when they obtained control of the House, passed "popgun" tariff bills, just as they are now doing. It is true that they won in the next election, but it cannot be said that they won because of those bills.

If the Democrats are not sincere in the present instance the people will know it. Moreover, it is quite possible that a tariff bill moderately reducing present duties could be framed which would receive Republican support in the Senate and be passed. But the bills thus far presented tend to solidify the Republican factions.

An interesting phase of the Senate committee assignments is that Senator Lodge resumes the chairmanship of the committee on immigration, which he relinquished many years ago. Lodge had long wanted to be chairman of foreign relations, but Senator Cullom does not seem inclined to let go of that place.

Lodge is one of the men long in service with good committee assignments, but without any good chairmanships. He is now fourth in point of service in the Senate, and yet he is not chairman of any important committee, Gallinger as third in service and is chairman of the District of Columbia committee. Nelson is seventh in rank and is chairman of public lands.

Every day just before calling the House to order Speaker Clark takes out his watch and compares it with the clock opposite him in the hall of the House.

"I have been trying for years to get a timepiece which would keep time," remarked Champ to a friend, "It seems to me that every watch I ever had was either too fast or too slow or something was the matter with it." But the Speaker is never late in calling the House to order. For more than 30 years Henry Neal, the messenger of the Speaker's room, has notified the Speaker when he should enter the House. If any Speaker has failed to be on time it was not Neal's fault.

Senator Penrose in the Senate and Congressman Gaeke in the House propose to advance the Ohio idea in dealing with public funds. They have introduced identical bills for the loan of public money to the highest bidder instead of to chosen banks selected by the Secretary of the Treasury, as at present. Now the government receives 1 per cent interest. Under the new scheme it is likely to get at least 3 per cent.

A group of men were sitting around a table enjoying a course of grape fruit. "I have recently been in the tropical islands, said one, "and I saw great quantities of this luscious food rotting on the ground. There is a tariff duty of $1.50 per box on it, and that is enough to keep much of it from coming to this country. I observe that grape fruit does not appear in the new free list bill. Tariff reform did not reach as far south as Florida."

"This House is organized for economy," remarked Congressman Mann, the minority leader, to a group of Democrats, "and yet the only committee which is now at work is that of public buildings and grounds. It is going about Washington laying the foundation for an expenditure of $100,000,000 for buildings in the city for the government service."

The Illinois man referred to the investigation that is going on of the rented buildings in Washington, many of which are fire traps and overcrowded. Valuable records are in danger of loss. In fact, it has often been claimed that the United States should have its own buildings in the capital for its use.

General Edwards, chief of the bureau of insular affairs, who has long been associated with President Taft, believes that judicious publicity is a good thing in governmental affairs. He is quite an advertiser of his own bureau and has always been able to maintain an interest in our insular possessions even when they were not cutting each other to pieces or murdering Americans. The general thinks the changes recently made at the executive offices will result in more publicity and a greater advantage to the government.

PROTEST NOT WELL TAKEN.

Doctrine of Virgin Birth to Come Up at Episcopal Convention.

BOSTON, May 3.—When the annual convention of the Massachusetts Diocese of the Episcopal Church met today at Jacob Sleeper hall there was much interest among the delegates as to the possibility of a debate over charges made by Rev. Dr. William Harman Van Allen, rector of the Church of the Advent, Boston, against the diocesan board of education. Rev. Dr. Van Allen, March 12, in a statement to his parishioners recommended that his parish withdraw support from the board, because a certain teacher employed by the board had said the church had not declared itself upon the doctrine of the Virgin birth. The clergyman protested to the board, declaring the doctrine of the Virgin birth had been maintained by the church from the beginning. In its reply the board did not discuss the doctrinal point but informed Rev. Dr. Van Allen that his protest, based as it was on the statement of one witness, was not well taken. It was understood this forenoon that members of the Massachusetts Church Union, an anti-broad church organization, would discuss the subject on the floor of the convention hall this afternoon or tomorrow forenoon. If business should not be completed today.

The convention was preceded by the celebration of the Holy Communion in Trinity Church, at which the preacher was Rev. Dr. George Hodges, dean of the Episcopal Theological School, Cambridge. Rt. Rev. Dr. William Lawrence, bishop of the diocese, presided over the convention.

COLONEL ASTOR'S TRIP ABROAD.

Colonel John Jacob Astor, who sailed for Europe Tuesday, will remain abroad about a month. Before leaving he said: "One of the chief purposes of my trip is to obtain copies from the French government of specifications for the construction and maintenance of highways. French methods of road building are excellent, as I have found by personal study. I am interested in roads as a member of the governing board of the Automobile Club of America."

His son, Mr. Vincent Astor, who accompanied him to the pier, expects to remain in this country this summer. They will spend a considerable portion of the season at Newport.

Anty Drudge and the Millionaire's Wife.

Mrs. Envius—"Just because Mrs. Swell's husband has made a million dollars is no reason she should put on airs. I can remember the day when she washed clothes for the millmen right here in this town."

Anty Drudge—"Yes, so can I; and she isn't a bit ashamed of it. She was just telling me yesterday about the first time she used Fels-Naptha in her washing. It made her work so easy that she had time to be bright and happy and help her man along."

It saves you money.

That's a queer thing to say of soap.

But it's true of Fels-Naptha.

How? Simple as A, B, C.

Clothes cost money. When you boil clothes you weaken their fibre just as you soften meat or vegetables by boiling. Hard-rubbing wears them out.

When you wash clothes with Fels-Naptha you neither boil nor hard-rub them. Fels-Naptha does the work far better in cold or lukewarm water in half the time and bother.

Your clothes will wear twice as long if washed with Fels-Naptha. And they'll be cleaner, whiter and sweeter after every washing than you could get them in any other way.

All that's required is to follow easy directions on the back of the red and green wrapper. Be sure and get the genuine Fels-Naptha.

HOUSE VOTES TO ADJOURN FRIDAY.

the petition of the American Federation of Women Teachers, favoring the passage of the women's pension bill. Referred to the judiciary committee.

Mr. Francis of Cranston introduced an act exempting the Cranston Technical High School athletic field from taxation. Referred to the judiciary committee.

Mr. Hammill of Bristol introduced an amendment to the law on prisons and other state institutions. Referred to the judiciary committee.

Mr. Saunders of Cranston introduced a resolution to appropriate $700 for placing a tablet on the grave of General George Sears Greene. Referred to the finance committee.

From the finance committee bills were reported and placed on the calendar, providing $3,500 for repairs to the state armory at Pawtucket, $200 for the use of the state sealer of weights and measures, $2,000 for the use of the commissioner of public schools, and $1,000 for the rent of the Eighth District court room.

Mr. Hammill of Bristol asked for unanimous consent to suspend the rules, for the passage of a resolution for final adjournment Friday. Mr. Eaton of Providence objected, claiming that such action should originate in the senate, Mr. West rose to a point of order, with the claim that a two-thirds vote would be necessary to suspend the rules. The house voted, 58 to 28, to suspend the rules and the rules were suspended.

The resolution to adjourn was then taken up and there was a delay in taking the vote while members were brought in from the corridors. It was finally voted to adjourn sine die Friday.

Taken from the calendar and passed were an act entitled administrators of estates, and an act requiring examiners of savings banks, to be citizens of the state.

Resolutions carrying appropriations were passed as follows: $2,754.80 for the Rhode Island Normal School, $150 for an exhibition of Rhode Island products at the food show in Boston, $500 for the state records commissioner in preparing lists of Colonial and Revolutionary wars, and $500 for repairs to the Bristol state armory.

After the session the Democrats held a conference, at which they decided to hold a dinner next Wednesday evening.

The house Tuesday afternoon, after a long discussion, passed by a vote of 56 to 26 the substitute resolution authorizing the Rhode Island Licensed Automobile Dealers' Association to use the state armory in Providence for an automobile show.

ALL JERUSALEM GREATLY ALARMED.

English Archaeologists Excavate Beneath the Mosque.

Mystery Surrounds Expedition Whose Operations Have Been Extensive.

JERUSALEM, Palestine, May 3.—The inhabitants have been aroused to the point of rioting by the operations of a party of English archaeologists, who are accused of having excavated beneath the inviolable Mosque of Omar and removed relics reputed to include the ark of the covenant, the censer, and other sacred vessels which belonged to the tribes of Israel. Azmy Bey, the Turkish governor, was mobbed on the streets for supposed complicity in the profanation, and hooted as "a pig." The mosque has been closed and is closely guarded pending the arrival from Constantinople of officials of the government, who will make an investigation.

The expedition worked for two years on a large scale, beginning at the village of Siloam, which lies at the southeast end of Jerusalem, on the southern slope of the Mount of Olives, overlooking the valley of Kedron and the pool of Siloam. The explorers are credited with having excavated a passage from the pool of Siloam toward the place where once stood Solomon's temple, built in 1012 B. C., pillaged, and restored and finally destroyed by Titus A. D. 70.

Failing to reach the relics sought in this manner the explorers, according to the alleged confessions of the guards of the mosque, bribed the guards, entered the mosque and after digging on for six nights, spirited away the treasures, "the whereabouts of which," says an Arabic paper, "none knew except God and these English."

Mystery surrounds the expedition, whose operations have been of such magnitude as to make evident that a large sum of money was invested. It is reported that wealthy Englishmen and Americans formed a syndicate of which the Duchess of Marlborough, who was Consuelo Vanderbilt, was a member, on the strength of the discovery of the location of the relics by Scandinavian investigators.

JURY DIVIDED.

No Verdict Agreed Upon in the Contest Over the Glover Will.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 3.—A disagreement was reported in the supreme court today by the jury which has been hearing evidence in the contest over the will of Clarence F. Glover, the murdered Waltham laundryman. The case went to the jury at 2:52 p. m. yesterday and at midnight the jurymen, by permission of the court, went to their homes. This morning they met again, and when court convened later in the forenoon the foreman reported that the jury was divided and could not agree upon a verdict. Justice Hammond, who has been presiding over the trial, made no comment as he discharged the jury. There will not be another session of the superior court in Middlesex county until October.

The Glover will case has been followed with interest by the people of New England, principally on account of the fact that it came as a sequel to the trial of Hattie Le Blanc, a French Canadian servant in the Glover family, for Glover's murder. The girl was acquitted last December at the conclusion of one of the most sensational criminal trials ever held in this state.

COLD FOR THE FISHERMEN.

Fishing steamer Sterling, Captain Macomber, of the Macomber & Nickerson Company, made her first landing at Long wharf today. She had about a dozen barrels of all sorts of fish, including a few striped bass and some scup, but chiefly sea robins and tautog, and a crew who agreed that it was very cold. At the fishing boats were out today, but it must have been pretty rough and cold and sloppy outside, even though the wind was off shore.

Fishing schooner Veda M. McKown is in, bound for the mackerel grounds but waiting for better weather.

Steamer Rover, Captain Jonathan T. Brownell, came down from Portsmouth Thursday night and joined the Long wharf fishing fleet. Her owner, Herbert G. Brownell has been on hand for some time, looking after business.

EASTER STAR ENTERTAINMENTS.

After the regular meeting of Aquidneck Chapter, No. 7, Order of the Eastern Star, Tuesday evening a pleasing program was enjoyed by the members. "An Old Sweetheart of Mine," with slight variations, was read by Mr. George de M. Congdon, and illustrated by poses by members of the chapter. Violin solos were given by Master Frederick Hummell, accompanied by Miss Carrie Hummell, and Mrs. Herbert Smith sang two solos, Miss Hammond accompanying. A bountiful supper was served.

Thursday evening another barn dance will be given at Mr. Frederick W. Lawton's stable on Green street.

BOY RAN INTO AN AUTOMOBILE.

There was a little mix-up on Spring street, near Holland, Tuesday afternoon. Mr. J. B. Parsonage was driving along in his car where some lads were playing, and one dropping off a fence without taking a look at anything dashed into the automobile. The wheel ran over his foot and immediately there as a crowd present. Mr. Parsonage took the lad home. He did not appear to be injured, but perhaps he thought he ought to be after being run over by an automobile. It was the boy's fault.

FINANCIAL.

NEW YORK, May 3. Wall Street—The market opened with Amalgamated Copper at 63¾, American Beet Sugar 45¾, American Cotton Oil 56¾, American Smelting and Refining 75¾, Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe 107¾, Brooklyn Rapid Transit 78¾, Canadian Pacific 234¾, Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul 131, Colorado Fuel and Iron 30, Erie 31, Missouri Pacific 49¾, New York Central 107, Northern Pacific 125⅝, Pennsylvania 126, Reading 156¼, Rock Island 29¾, Southern Pacific 115, Southern Railway 27⅝, Union Pacific 178¾, United States Steel 75¾, United States Steel preferred 119⅝, Lehigh Valley 175½.

11—Losses were extended in all directions, some of the important stocks falling 1 point or more below yesterday's closing, before the selling ceased. Covering of shorts and the execution of some supporting orders caused a sharp fractional rebound. Atchison was bought freely and it advanced to 110½.

Noon—Following an early period of unsettlement, caused primarily by heavy selling of Reading and Union Pacific, the stock market grew harder, and before the noon hour substantial recoveries from the lower level were the rule. In some railway issues of this second class, particularly Erie, there was decided strength. Of the industrials the conspicuous feature was International Harvester, which gained 3¼ on moderately large sales. The fertilizer stocks also were strong. Trading diminished on the rebound, but stocks held firm at the higher prices. Bonds were firm. Money on call steady at 2¼ per cent. Prime mercantile paper 3½ to 4 per cent. Exchanges $285,177,818; balances $16,291,305.

A THIRD STREET COON HUNT.

Animal Killed by Mr. Lawton in His Henhouse and Now the Basis of a Feast.

Mr. Fred E. Lawton, whose activities in fishing do not preclude some attention to the raising of chickens, has recently been missing some of his hens from his yard on Third street, near the Van Zandt Avenue bridge. The number finally reached a dozen, but it looks now as though he would have no more trouble.

About 1:20 Monday morning Mr. Lawton heard the quiet of the night broken by sounds from his henhouse, and was soon on the job. What he thought was a cat had a hen in its mouth, and when the light showed the animal dropped it and ran back to the henhouse. Mr. Lawton closed the door and went inside with a club. There was a fight, but Mr. Lawton won. When he examined the intruder he found it was not a cat, but a coon. Those who know the coon say the light from the lantern had blinded the animal, or Mr. Lawton would have had more excitement than he had.

It is supposed that the coon made its escape from some collection. The question arises: Is the former owner of the coon responsible for the dozen hens Mr. Lawton has lost? It will be noted that "former owner" of the coon is spoken of. The present owner is a colored man, who knows just how to cook coon so that it will taste right and is preparing for the feast today.

MIDDLETOWN.

School Committee Organizes and Appoints Committee on Added Accommodations.

[Regular Correspondence of The News.]

The school committee organized at its annual meeting at the town hall Tuesday evening. Alan R. Wheeler was chosen chairman, Mrs. Elisha A. Peckham clerk, and Nathaniel L. Champlin superintendent.

The school calendar of 38 weeks was re-arranged, to begin the first term September 5, instead of May 2, as formerly.

It was voted that on special days, like Arbor day and Flag day, the schools should be in session all day instead of half a day, as in the past—the morning to be devoted wholly to the regular work, and the afternoon to the special exercises, with the exception of Independence day, when the last hour of the afternoon will be set apart in commemoration of Rhode Island independence. Holidays have come to interfere so seriously with school work that this arrangement has seemed needed for some time.

Owing to the over-crowded condition of the schools, it was voted to raise the age of the children entering to six years, those already entered at five to remain.

The following sub-committees were appointed: Oliphant School, Nathaniel L. Champlin; Witherbee, Alan R. Wheeler; Wyatt, Mrs. William R. Hunter; Paradise, Mrs. Elisha A. Peckham; Peabody, William J. Peckham.

A rising vote of thanks was tendered the retiring superintendent. Mrs. Hunter, for her efficient services and much appreciation was expressed for her interest in the schools and her many gifts to add to their attractiveness and comfort.

William J. Peckham and Mrs. E. A. Peckham were appointed to canvas the congested districts and secure if possible special accommodations in which an overflow school may be conducted. About 30 children need to be transferred to some such quarters at once to relieve the Witherbee, Wyatt and Peabody schools, where there are about 10 children in each beyond the seating capacity. Twenty-seven children from Middletown are at present in the grammar grades in Newport who properly belong in this town, but who felt crowded out by the large number in the town schools.

The annual egg supper at the Methodist Episcopal Church Tuesday evening, under the auspices of the Epworth league, was well attended and especially successful. Small tables were arranged in the dining room on either side of a long centre table, and on them were placed vases of daffodils, while the paper napkins were decorated with yellow primroses. Menu cards offered eggs served in eight ways, and as no one was restricted as to an order even the largest appetite could be satisfied. Rolls, coffee and cake completed an excellent supper. The young women of the parish acted as waitresses, while the young matrons prepared the supper. Ice cream was also sold. The guests arrived earlier than has been customary and continued to come and go until after 8 o'clock.

During the evening a musical program was given in the large Sunday school room, with the following piano numbers: "Evening Blow," Miss Sadie L. Peckham; "Apple Blossoms," Miss Elva Brown; "The Steel King March," Mrs. Fred P. Webber; "The Star of Hope," Miss Ivah Peckham; "Heather Rose and Moss Rose Waltz," Miss Lois Carey; duet, "The Merry Wives of Windsor," Misses Sadie E. and Sadie L. Peckham. The church parlors were decorated with a profusion of daffodils. A delegation was present from Newport.

Rev. and Mrs. Edward E. Wells have been entertaining Mr. Wells's aunt, Miss Josephine Fiske, superintendent of the Deaconess Home, Providence. Miss Fiske has been associated with the work in Boston for the past 15 years and about six months ago was transferred to Providence.

The thermometer stood at 34 this morning.

Mr. Harold N. Arrowsmith, one of the lay readers of St. Columba, the Berkeley Memorial Chapel, has been appointed by Bishop Perry to conduct the services at the Mission Church of the Holy Spirit, Prudence Island, and began his work at Prudence Easter day. He is one of the masters at St. George's School and president of the Berkeley Men's Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carpenter of Pawtucket were in town Tuesday, guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alden P. Barker.

In Paris last summer a southern girl was hear' to drawl between the acts of Chant Hen: "I think it's mo' fun when you don't understand French. It sounds mo' like chickens!"—[Life.

SUBSTITUTE FULL OF HOLES.

New Tuberculin Test Act Destroys Value of Proposed Legislation.

Leaves Application of the Trial to the Discretion of the Veterinarians.

The senate committee on judiciary has prepared a substitute bill for the one presented by Representative Cutler providing for the application of the tuberculin test for cattle, which according to friends of the original measure is so "full of holes" that it will be of little value. The Cutler bill provided for the tuberculin test for all cattle entering the state, giving no leeway in the matter, while the committee's substitute for the measure which passed the lower branch limits the animals affected to those over nine months old, which are intended for dairy purposes only.

While the Cutler legislation proposed the testing of all cattle entering the state the substitute provides that the veterinarian called shall use the test, providing, however, that he need not do so if he thinks the animal free from disease or that such a test would be prejudicial to the health of the animal. In other words, it is left to the discretion of the veterinarian, who may omit the test if he likes.

The proponents of Mr. Cutler's bill declare that, while the measure enacted by the house really aims at preventing tuberculous cattle from entering the staten nder any circumstances, the new measure constitutes the veterinarian who may be called a judge as to whether he shall use the test, and thus defeats the purpose of placing a rigid bar against the entrance into Rhode Island of cattle afflicted with disease.

It is said that the intent of the senate committee is to have a bill reported and passed which will be so full of points to which Mr. Cutler will not agree that the house will be obliged to kill the substitute. As it will then be too late in the session for further work, nothing more will be done toward strengthening the bars against tuberculosis and the old law, which is not radical enough to have enemies, will stand until another legislature at least.

The committee on judiciary was to have acted Tuesday on Mr. Cutler's measure, but a printed substitute drawn by a lawyer who is said to favor the opposition's point of view was brought in for the members to look over. This is the bill which it is understood may be reported by the committee in place of Mr. Cutler's measure, and in the fact of Mr. Cutler's vigorous opposition to the adoption of any such legislation, which he declared was no improvement whatever over the present law and leaves the same loophole provided in the laws now in force.

In section 14 of chapter 20 the casual reader would understand that no cattle could be admitted into the state unless the person making the importation was in possession of a certificate stating that the animal had undergone the tuberculin test, and been found free from disease. In the proposed substitute, in fact, the old clause which permitted the admission of cattle with merely a physical examination is nullified, and it would appear that each animals must have a tuberculin test.

One "out" found in this section is that it pertains only to "any cow or neat cattle over nine months old to be used for dairy purposes." The old law was stricter, in that it covered all cattle, whether nine months old or under, or whether to be used for dairy purposes, slaughter or oxen for draft work.

In section 16, as amended under the proposed substitute, however, the whole of section 14 is placed at naught by a provision which gives the examining veterinarian his option as to whether he shall subject the animal to the tuberculin test. This section is as follows:

"Any person desiring to import into this state any cows or neat cattle over nine months of age to be used for dairy purposes, without obtaining the certificate required by section 14 of this chapter, shall give written notice within 48 hours after the arrival into this state of such cattle to some veterinarian approved by the State Board of Agriculture, and such notification shall contain a description of each of said cattle sufficiently particular to enable its identification and the place where it may be found.

"Upon receipt of such notice such veterinarian shall forthwith proceed to examine such cattle with the tuberculin test, according to the most approved methods; provided, however, that if such veterinarian is of the opinion that such animal is free from disease and thinks it will be prejudicial to the health of such animal to administer such test it may be omitted."

In the old law it is necessary for the person desiring to import cattle into the state without the certificate to notify the county cattle commissioner, who shall make a physical examination, and if he deems the animal free from tuberculosis, the commissioner shall give a permit for the use of the animal.

It is declared that the proposed substitute for Mr. Cutler's bill is the same in effect as the present law, except that whereas the old law included all cattle the proposed legislation affects only cattle over nine months old and only those intended for dairy use.

A SATURDAY MASS.

Big Class of Five Hundred Boys and Girls for First Communion Causes Change at St. Mary's.

At St. Mary's Church Saturday morning there will be a special children's mass for the first Communion class of boys and girls who have been preparing for some time past. The reason for having this mass on Saturday instead of Sunday, the usual time, is because of the size of the class. Five hundred boys and girls are expected to be in the class and it will take so long that the regular services following the children's mass Monday morning would be hindered. This will be a great day for the youngsters of St. Mary's parish. It will also be the last big first Communion class of the old parish, as the new St. Augustin's is shortly to take its portion from the old church.

MISS CATHERINE R. TURNER.

Death of Well Known Singer and Music Teacher, Member of a Prominent Family.

Miss Catherine Ray Turner, a sister of the late Dr. Henry E. Turner, died at her home on School street Tuesday night, after a short illness. She had not been in good health for some time, but was not regarded as seriously ill until Tuesday.

Miss Turner was the youngest daughter of the late Dr. James Varnum and Catherine (Ray) Turner and with the exception of a brother, Mr. William G. Turner, the sculptor, was the last of the family. She came of a distinguished ancestry. Her father was a direct descendant of Captain William Turner of Boston, who in 1675 raised a company and marched to Northampton under Major Savage, and was present at the repulse of the Indians from that place and later engaged in other engagements with the Indians. Her grandfather was Dr. Peter Turner of East Greenwich, who served as surgeon in the Revolution in Colonel Christopher Greene's Rhode Island regiment of the Continental line. She was also a descendant of Simon Ray of Block Island and William Almy of Portsmouth, and on her mother's side from Ray Greene of Warwick and from John Greene, who was deputy governor of the colony of Rhode Island from 1690 to 1700. Besides, she was directly related to Roger Williams and John Sayles of Providence, Randal Holden, Samuel Gorton and Rufus Barton of Warwick and Jeremy Clarke of Newport, original settlers in Rhode Island.

Miss Turner lived for many years in the homestead on the corner of Touro and School streets, with her sisters, Misses Mary and Elizabeth Turner, who died several years ago. In more recent years her brother, Mr. William G. Turner, had lived with her. She was a woman of charming personality and had a wide circle of friends, who found great pleasure in the grace of character and charming conversational powers which were a part of the life of the deceased.

From her youth she had a great love of music, possessed a pleasing voice and an ability to impart to others her skill. She was for a long period a singer in the choir of the United Congregational Church, and sang for the love of it. For many years she gave lessons in singing and on the piano, and had many pupils among those of the older generations of Newporters. She had been for many years a member of the United Congregational Church, a regular attendant on its services and actively interested in its many activities.

In addition to the brothers and sisters already mentioned, Miss Turner had another brother, Dr. Francis Lincoln Turner, who was a practicing physician here and died many years ago.

STATE ODD FELLOWS.

Members of Newport Lodges Appointed on Committees at Annual Session in Providence.

At the sixty-eighth annual session of the Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows of Rhode Island in Providence Tuesday, there were more than 300 representatives from all the subordinate lodges of the state in attendance. The report of Grand Master Nathan M. Wright showed a net gain of 151 members for 1910, the largest increase in any year in the past two decades. The total membership of the order in this state is placed at 6,165, distributed among 43 subordinate lodges. The reports of the several officers and committees showed the order to be in a flourishing condition in all respects.

The financial condition of the lodges was shown to be ahead of last year. The amount paid for relief was $32,715.90. The other expenses amounted to $44,893.41, the total disbursements being $77,109.31. The net assets of the state lodges December 31, 1910, were $373,594.08. The present membership of Rebekah lodges is 3,259.

The Grand Lodge, after a long and spirited debate, by a large vote decided in favor of opening the Odd Fellows Home in East Providence. A tax was ordered for this purpose on the subordinate and Rebekah lodges, and the trustees were directed to prepare rules and regulations for the conduct of the Home.

The following officers were elected:

Grand Master—William H. Hervey.
Deputy Grand Master—Allen W. Everett.
Grand Secretary—William H. T. Mosley.
Grand Treasurer—J. Milton Payne.
Grand Representative—Nathan M. Wright.
Grand Warden—Henry E. Whitney.

The grand master-elect made the following appointments:

Grand Chaplain—Rev. Lester Howard.
Grand Marshal—Albert E. Pike.
Grand Guardian—James N. Smith.
Grand Conductor—Henry H. Potter.
Grand Herald—Harry S. Dixon.

The grand master also appointed the district deputies and committees, the former including J. Fred Sherman for the lodges and Mary B. Wyatt for the Rebekah lodges in this vicinity. Among the committee members are William L. Barker on the committee on petitions and Allen C. Griffith on the committee on Rebekah degree.

IN MEMORIAM.

Henry James Brundage, died October, 1882, aged 52 years.

Thomas Farrell, died April 16, 1890, aged 58.

It seems fitting that we should speak a few words of the services of these two men, drummer and fifer of the Newport Artillery Company for many years, who so long furnished us with martial music. It is now more than a quarter of a century since they played on our streets together and we feel thankful for the joy they gave us in departed days.

Hark! We hear a fife and drum.
Glad Election day has come
And our hearts are beating high,
For Tom and Dick are marching by.

Though the drum beats are distant,
The fife's shrill notes are far away,
Many hearts are filled with gladness
As memory brings them back today.

Oft they marched side by side
Before the Civil war had come,
And their martial notes seemed fitting
As they played their fife and drum.

Dick's fife hangs o'er his picture
In the home of those he loved,
Since he went from service here
To wait for blessed life above.
Tom's drum is now a treasure
Held by those he loved the best.
How silent are his drum beats
Since they laid him down to rest!

Tom and Dick are marching on,
Mid the joys that are the best;
The old Election days are gone
And Tom and Dick are ever blest.

Yet memory often brings them back,
With the joys of those fond days
When we loved to see them marching
As we love to speak their praise.

Yes, the drum beats fast are fading,
The fife's shrill notes are far away,
But Tom and Dick are ever with us,
Mid the joys of many a joyous day.

MEETING OF COUNCIL ASKED.

Aldermen Suggest May 15 for Fixing Food Inspector's Salary.

Keepers of Piers Re-Elected and the Down-Town Dumps Again Considered.

The Board of Aldermen held the two monthly meetings for May Tuesday evening, no quorum having appeared Monday for the financial meeting. The request from the Board of Health for a special meeting of the Representative Council to fix the salary of the inspector of food products was received, and it was voted to ask that the Council meet Monday, May 15, for that purpose. The keepers of the piers were re-elected and some other business was transacted. In the absence of Mayor Boyle President Shepley presided, all the others being present.

The first matter was the bills for the past month, which were approved after some scrutiny.

Finance report No. 4 was read and the following amounts were ordered paid from the several appropriations named:

Board of Health	$1,614.99
City Asylum	610.00
Fire department	1,136.55
Highways and bridges	2,334.80
Police	221.99
Poor department	274.20
Public parks	853.65
Public schools	784.40
Various city offices	960.92
Hospitals	292.00
Tuberculosis relief	181.95
Cemeteries	50.00
Street lights	3,064.27
Land damages	3.20
Indexing and preserving records	45.75
Celebrations and entertainments	5.00
Garbage disposal committee	109.10
Touro Synagogue fund	6.65
Dog fund	120.00
	$12,270.39

The report of the street commissioner for four weeks ending April 22 was received. It showed expenditures of $8,163.57 for labor and $1,523.77 for material, a total of $9,675.34.

The monthly report of the inspector of nuisances for April was received.

A communication was received from the Board of Health, stating that the board had received a certified copy of the amendment made by the General Assembly to chapter 616 of the Public Laws, which vests in the Board of Health the power to license and regulate the sale of milk, the inspection of meats and the location of slaughter houses. The new reading of section 5 is as follows: "And elect some suitable person to be an inspector of food products, who shall be paid such amount for his services as shall be determined by the Representative Council." As the board now has the power to appoint, the aldermen were asked, by vote of the Board of Health, to call a special meeting of the Representative Council to fix the salary of the inspector of food products.

Mr. Mahoney said Monday seemed to be the best evening for holding meetings of the Council, and suggested Monday, May 15, as the date. The board voted to ask for a meeting of the Council on that date and for the purpose named.

Licenses (renewals) were granted to Fred Farmer for billiard table and the Builders & Merchants and Realty halls for exhibition purposes.

Mr. Mahoney presented a petition from Judge Franklin and others, asking that the west side of Malbone road, between Channing street and Van Zandt avenue, be curbed and graded. It was referred to the street commissioner with power to do the work.

The keepers of the city piers were re-elected, no names were mentioned, a motion to re-elect those who served last year being carried unanimously. They are: Ann street, Eugene Sullivan; Elm street, James Freeman; Fort Greene, Joseph R. Child; Van Zandt avenue, James Cahoone.

A hearing on the petition of Clara Henshman for damages sustained in a fall on Green street was set for the meeting, but at the request of Mr. Nolan, attorney for the petitioner, this was postponed to May 18.

Mr. Shepley made a report on dump matters in the down-town section. A temporary dump had been secured from Mr. Anthony, and the street commissioner had sent a man to burn the papers burned, as they formed the nuisance. Mr. Kelly reported that the owner of the lot at the corner of Marchant street and Wellington avenue was willing to have it filled up more if the papers would be burned. The offer was accepted and the street commissioner was directed to move the wire fence used in holding papers from blowing to that lot and have it used for a dump.

Alderman Kelly had his annual motion ready. It was that the Fourth of July approaches and if the committee on celebration was to have time to do things it was about time that committee was appointed. It was thought that it would be better to defer action until Thursday, when Mayor Boyle would be present.

The committee on the flowing of the Welch lands, off Malbone avenue, made a partial report, but said it would consult the city solicitor before making a full report. There was a legal matter which the street commissioner wished passed upon before reporting. The committee, with the street commissioner, had inspected the premises.

There being no further business, the board at 8.30 adjourned.

THE BUDDING OF THE TREES.

The magnolia tree on the Griswold estate, opposite Touro Park, was just beginning to open its buds Tuesday afternoon and is making a fine showing, even though the buds were still unopen. The one on the Calvert place, on Kay street and Mann avenue, being in a more sheltered position, is in fine condition and should be seen by those who like to see floral exhibits; also the pink one on Dr. Robinson's grounds on High street.

Generally, wherever there are shrubs and trees, lovers of nature no have a fine opportunity to go about and admire the buddings of spring. Some of the buds on the trees are especially beautiful and will well repay a more careful examination than can be made by a casual glance. Things are coming out, despite the cold; the spring is here and nature is showing her works all about.

FOUR COAL BARGES ASHORE.

Drag Their Anchors and Driven on Rocks at Greene Point, Near the Middletown Station.

This morning during the stiff northwest blow four coal barges anchored off the Middletown station, dragged their anchors and came ashore on the rocks at Greene point. The barges were light and came so far up that it looked as though those on board might jump ashore, but none did. Distress signals were flown, but no one able to render assistance was about. Tug Solicitor was up the bay for sand and Captain O'Neill may see the barges on his way down.

The barges are just south of the Middletown station of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad and the agent states that it does not look as though they were going to pieces. The wind has abated considerably and is not blowing nearly so hard as when the barges went ashore.

A NEW FLAG.

Furnished by the Park Commission for Soldiers and Sailors Park and Ready for Use.

Chairman Shepley of the Park Commission has turned over to Comrade James J. Sheehan the new flag which the commission recently voted to supply for the pole on Soldiers and Sailors park. This is the second large flag for this pole. When the late Colonel Powel gave the pole he gave also a large flag, which was entrusted to Mr. Sheehan, he being the Grand Army man living nearest to the flagpole. This flag, after many years of usefulness, has reached that stage when it can no longer be depended upon and the new one will be welcome for display on Memorial day, Fourth of July and such occasions. For winter use and for display on the death of veterans of the war a smaller flag is used, and several of these have been worn out in the service.

During the incapacity, from illness, of Mr. Sheehan, Mr. J. T. Delano of the Grand Army looks after the flag at this place, and it is noticed that there is a very prompt display when a soldier passes away, whether he is a member of the Grand Army or not.

SUBMARINES ON THE WAY.

Third Division, Including Seven Boats and Two Tenders, Coming Here for Manoeuvres.

The Third submarine division of the Atlantic torpedo fleet, comprising tenders Castine and Severn and submarines Grayling, Bonita, Narwhal, Salmon, Snapper, Stingray and Tarpon, is on the way to Newport for a month's manoeuvres in Narragansett bay. The division is commanded by Lieutenant Donald C. Bingham, who also commands flagboat Grayling. Ensign Sloan Danenhower commands the Bonita, Lieutenant Chester N. Nimitz the Narwhal, Ensign Warren G. Child the Salmon, Ensign Joseph W. Jewell the Snapper, Ensign Clarence W. Hinkamp the Stingray, Ensign John W. Barnett, Jr., the Tarpon, and Lieutenant Ralph A. Koch the Castine. The submarines have been engaging in manoeuvres in Southern waters and come to Newport from Hampton Roads.

These submarine boats have been in commission a little more than a year and this is their first visit to Newport. They were authorized by acts of Congress in 1906 and 1907 and were built by the Electric Boat Company at the works of the Fore River Shipbuilding Company at Quincy, Mass.
